The new Pawn Shop series instruments draw inspiration from strange and storied pawn shop finds of the 1960s and '70s, and emerge as all-new Fender guitars with a bold element of eccentricity. The Pawn Shop Fender '72 has a semi-hollow Stratocaster® body with an F-hole, a Telecaster® style neck, two humbucking pickups, and dual-knob chrome control plate with master volume and pickup blend—a creative alchemy of diverse Fender components.

Features include a rosewood fretboard with modern 9.5" radius and 6105 frets, a Fender Wide Range humbucking neck pickup and Fender Enforcer™ humbucking bridge pickup, '70s-style hard-tail Stratocaster bridge, '70s-style Fender "F" tuners, mint green pickguard, bullet truss rod, three-bolt neck attachment and deluxe gig bag.
